

BUILDERS RUSH OPTION OFFER ON JINDALEE LAND RELEASE

The new Jindalee Chase 7th Release of choice building allotments is being offered for option — and the response by Brisbane builders has been overwhelming!

Many are taking immediate advantage of Centenary Estates' offer to reserve, free from any cost or obligation, up to five landscaped and fully sewered allotments.

So popular is the plan, that over half of the release has already been earmarked by prospective buyers. However, a number of first-class homesites are still available.

Whilst being elevated and commanding panoramic views of the mountains in one direction, and the Brisbane River in the other, many allotments are ideal for slab construction.

In addition, many of the lots have wide frontages up to 62 feet, a fact that has already been well accepted by Jindalee homebuyers.

Aspects are predominantly north-south to take advantage of the prevailing breezes.

The prices of this latest release range from $3300 to $5800 a block, with the $12,000 minimum building covenant still applying.

GROUP SEVEN OPENS THIS MONTH

Jindalee's permanent Display Village, a co-operative effort by seven Brisbane builders, will be officially opened at 11 a.m. on Saturday, 7th September.

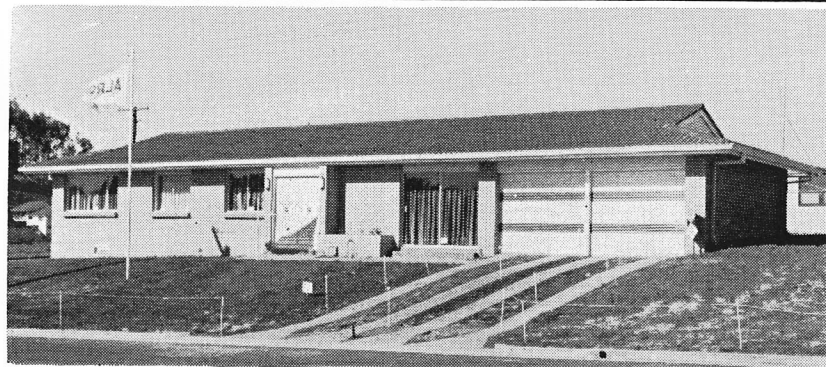

The Lord Mayor of Brisbane, Alderman Clem Jones, has graciously agreed to open the Group 7 Display, a showing of seven significant homes grouped round the giant fig tree at Jindalee Chase.

Built to illustrate the latest trends and developments in home construction and design, and to feature the most modern materials and appliances, all the homes will be open for public inspection for a period of 12 months.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the Opening of the Village on the 7th September, and to inspect the homes afterwards. Just drive along Moggill or Ipswich Roads, then down the Centenary Highway to Jindalee Chase, and Group 7.

Look for the giant fig tree.
